Stine. Little wolf, little wolf, howl! On the eve of the first full moon of summer and twelve-year-old Riley Callahan is ready to turn into a wolf. Nothing can ruin her mood: not her brother Milo's teasing, not Mama N's smothering, and not even Mama C's absence from their pack's ceremony. But then the unthinkable happens—that violates every rule of wolf magic—Riley and four other kids don't shift. Riley is left with questions that even the pack leaders don't have. To make matters far worse, it appears something was awoken in the woods that same night. The Devouring Wolf. The elders tell the tale of a Devouring Wolf to scare young pups into obedience. It's a terrifying campfire story for fledging wolves, an old legend of a giant creature who consumes the souls inside young werewolves. But to Riley, the Devouring Wolf is more than lore: it's real and it's after her and her friends.

White Wolf May 27 2022 NYPD homicide detective Trina Baskin is having nightmares. Vivid ones. Full of blood, and snow, dead wolves...and a man with pale hair who howls like an animal. She chalks them up to stress and an overactive imagination, too many Old Country stories from her mother who, when he's had too much vodka, starts to rave about dark forces and things that look like men...but aren't. But then a case hits her desk that she can't explain. A young man found outside a club with a nasty bite mark on his neck - and not a drop of blood left in his body. With no leads, no one to bear exploring, too little sleep, and a partner who seems to be willfully throwing his career down the toilet, the last thing Trina needs is a full moon and the experience...in which her family's past is revealed to her, and everything starts making a whole lot of terrifying sense. In 1942, Trina's great-grandfather, Nikita, is a captain of the Cheka, the Soviet political police - or so it seems. He and his men are sent to Siberia to retrieve a "volunteer," the last man to win the war against the Nazis - and potentially unleash hell on earth. The world's immortal population has been living quietly, secretly, hiding their wars of men, hoping the past can stay buried. But what happens on the Eastern Front in the winter of 1942 will change everything. In 2019, Trina comes face-to-face with her own past in a way she never thought possible. It turns out monsters are real - and they might be the only hope for the world.
